

Jennie Yu Yi

---

Education

Master of Chinese Economic Law, Lanzhou University, Lanzhou, China (1996)

Professional Experience

After receiving her master degree, Jennie worked as a university professor, senior manager for several companies, and a lawyer assistant for a law firm. She also worked for the Shanghai Research Institute of MicroElectronics, Peking University as one of the founders for about four years, as well as for the Shanghai Zhangjiang National Digital Publishing Company (NDPC) & Zhangjiang Culture Creature Company (ZCCC) as Assistant to GM / Secretary of the Board of Directors for about four years.

In her twenty-year career, she has seen many families around her suffer due to educational problems, extra-marital affairs, generational gaps, depression, crises of trust, and so on. Now she works for the University of Northwestern – St. Paul as an admissions counselor. Her goal there is to help Mandarin-speaking students and their parents prepare their path toward building their dreams.

Personal Information

Jennie and her husband, Peter, live in St. Paul, Minnesota and have a son, Vincent, who studies Computer Science at the University of Minnesota.

